AFFAIRS IN HAWAII.

Little Opposition to Government Candidates in the Coming Election.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22 .- L. A. Thurston. Hawaijan minister to the United States, was a passenger on the Australia, which arrived to-day from Honolulu. He is going to Washington to assume the official duties there.

Advices from Honolulu, dated Sept. 15, say the coming election to be held Oct. 29 is creating considerable talk. From present indications there will be little opposition to the government candidates. No royalist nominations have been made yet though Paul Newmann, confidential advisor of the ex-Queen, has been freely spoken of as a candidate for Senator. One of the clauses of the new Constitution is to the effect that all government officials to the effect that all government officials who have not taken the oath of allegiance to the republic by the 1st of September will be discharged. This rule will be carried out even to the exclusion of women schoolteachers, a few of whom would not give up their allegiance to the Queen. A majority of the native office holders have taken the required oath, however, and stand pledged to support the present government one American, three German and one English men-of-war have been in Honolulu's harbor for the past week. The Germans left a few days ago and the Charleston departed yesterday for the scene of the Corean war. The Hyacinthe, an English war ship, leaves to-day for a short cruise. This has given birth to the usual royalist rumors of the Queen's restoration, but no belief is expressed by the government in any attempt towards rebellion.

GRAY'S THREE BAGGER

The Milwaukees Play Fast Ball, but Finish Just One Run Short-Good Pitening and Clean Fielding.

DIANAPOLIS YESTERDAY.

The Milwaukees came along yesterday for the season's finish and were defeated in a close game. Both teams played fast ball, but neither could hit very freely. Indianapolis landed a little harder on the ball than Cushman's men and Gray's three bagger in the fifth won the game. The fielding was unusually clean, the only error of the game being a bad throw to second by Westlake in the opening inning. Phillips was in right field for Indianapolis and besides making a fine catch of Clingman's dangerous looking drive in the fifth brought in the winning run with a long fly to left. Shields played a great second and Roat's work was a feature. Henry and Gray had several pretty catches. While close, the contest was not particularly exciting after the fifth inning, because Milwaukee did not get many to base. Cross was effective and his support clean. The same can be said for Baker and his backing, but Indianapolis touched him up just at the right time. There wasn't much of a margin at any stage of the game but the luck was on the side of the home team. Um-pire Sheridan leaned a little toward the visitors, giving them the benefit of the doubt in two instances. They played faultless ball but it didn't win. Milwaukee was first up and Goodenough was given a base on balls as an opener. He stole second and kept on to third on Westake's bad throw to head him off, scoring immediately afterward on Clingman's fly to Gray. Twitchell was retired at first by Mills and Carey at the same place by Shields. Indianapolis tied in the last half, McCarthy leading off with a triple along the right foul line and scoring on Henry's fly to Twitchell. Gray hit safe and Phillips advanced him with a sacrifice. Mills ended the inning by going out from Taylor to Carey. Although Westlake started the Indianapolis half of the second with a two-bagger to left, he could not score because Roat fouled out to Carey, Shields was thrown out at first by Taylor and Cross flew to Goodenough.

The visitors took the lead in the fourth, when Twitchell opened with a double to right and scored on Carey's single in the same direction. Long forced Carey out at second and was easily caught at that base himself attempting a steal. Flaherty and Taylor then hit safe, but Roat captured Bolan's grounder and tossed it to Shields, retiring Taylor and the side. Baker started the fifth with a single, but the next three men were easily disposed of. In the last half Indianapolis went in and won the game. Cross opened with a safe hit to left, but was forced at second by McCarthy's grounder to Taylor. Henry's single to center advanced McCarthy and both men scored on Gray's big drive to the left-field fence for three bases. Phillips then lifted a fly to Long, on which Gray came home, and Mills flew to Carey.

After Shields had pulled down Carey's hot line drive in the sixth, Long hit for a base.

Henry cut off Flaherty's line fly, but Taylor put one out of reach for three bases, scoring Long, Henry took care of another ugly-looking fly from Bolan's bat and the danger was over. Although both teams opened with singles in the seventh neither could work in a run. With two out in the eighth Westlake hit the first ball pitched to right center for three bases, but Roat flew to Clingman. The Milwaukee men were easily disposed of in the last two innings. Cross showed something like his old form throughout yesterday's game, and was steady and hard to solve. The attendance

Baseball Notes. The game yesterday was the shortest of Monday's game with Milwaukee here will wind up the season. Phillips will probably pitch unless he should be put in at Milwaukee to-day, in which case Pepper will go in to-morrow. Indianapolis has won forty-six of its sixty victories this season on the home grounds. This record is the banner one of the Western League. It has won only fourteen games away from home Indianapolis may pass Grand Rapids yet. Each team has two games to play and there is still a fighting chance, as they are neck and neck for fifth place. To-day's game will come near settling the matter. The Indianapolis and Milwaukee clubs left at midnight for the latter city to play to-day. It is the last game of the season there and a big crowd is expected. President Killyea, of the Milwaukees, wanted $600 to transfer the game here and as that price was a little steep for the local management it was concluded best to make between them prepared chalk, and the voice of the shoe is silenced forever. This secret is revealed for the especial benefit of the growing number of women who wear calf-skin shoes, the best in the world for walking. It is a shoemaker who explained why he could tell how the large majority of American women walk incorrectly. By the soles of their shoes are they betrayed. She who steps easily and well wears out first the sole from the toe point, and then the very back edge of her heel. She sets her very back edge of her heel. She sets her foot down, toes, not heels, first, and is steady on her ankles. Other women wear the outside edge of their heels and soles, and the little girl who grows up with this tendency to walk on the side of her foot can never correct the fault later in life. It is all the result of a careless habit, and in time set the bones of foot and ankle in a false position, from which they cannot be coaxed. There is no contrivance yet brought to the shoe market that will protect these side walkers from wearing down their heels and, unless they are careful to have the heel constantly renewed, the foot grows more out of shape each ful to have the heel constantly renewed, the foot grows more out of shape each year. Women who wear pointed shoes should have them fitted with toe caps that hold the leather at the tip firm and unwrinkled, or lacking these, it is well to moisten cotton or tissue paper, ram it tightly into the toe, where it will dry and harden and keep the empty point smooth. Every woman's shoe box should contain a small bottle of linseed oil, to be rubbed skin shoes and on those that have dried out hard and stiff after a damp walk. Where shoes have been wet to any extent they should be placed at once on trees or stuffed with paper to hold the leatner smooth while drying.

One of the Peculiarities.

Detroit Free Press. The city gent with a sun blister on his nose was sitting on the bank of a stream dangling a $25 fishing outfit in the water, when a boy with a pin hook and a string of fish came along and stopped to look "Say, boy," he called up to the road, "is there any place around here where a man can catch any fish?" "No," replied the boy, "but there's plenty where a boy kin," and he grinned and went on his way.

Wood Fibre Underclothing.

Boston Transcript. Underclothing is now being made from wood fiber and very soon it will not be necessary for people to know enough to come in when it rains. The Mesterlich process is capable of application to the production of cloth, based upon the fact that on the resinous substances pertaining to wood being extracted therefrom the causes of decay are gotten rid of, the re-
